Profile

I am a Full Stack web programmer passionate about learning new technologies and constantly looking for new challenges to be able to test the knowledge acquired.

I give my 100% to solve the problems that arise because I really like to develop software and create solutions where the client is satisfied.

Studies

I study the Computer Engineering career since 2018 at the National University of Avellaneda (UNDAV) at the headquarters located in Piñeyro. Currently I am still studying this degree, but I must point out that I have completed almost the entire basic cycle with 18 promoted subjects.

Among the promoted subjects I can highlight those that could be more relevant to the job, such as "Algorithms and data structure", "Database Management" and "Object Oriented Programming".

Experience

I have 1 year of experience working on freelance projects, among which the most important were developed with PHP. Here is my portfolio so you can see:
